Richard Milgrim is a long-term Kyoto resident and ceramic artist. With the patronage of his mentor, Dr. Sen Genshitsu, he developed his own style of Tea ceramics. Early in his career, Milgrim apprenticed with master potters in Kyoto, Bizen, Hagi and Mino. He has continued to immerse himself in traditional Japanese pottery techniques and philosophies for decades. His work is celebrated for its depth, combining artistic innovation with profound respect for Japanese culture and heritage.

Mari Milgrim is a professional teacher of Tea for over 50 years, including 10 years of teaching at Urasenke Headquarters in Kyoto, Japan.
